

PROVOST'S LECTURE SERIES

IN HONOR OF BLACK HISTORY MONTH

1967: The Year of the Panther

Jonathan Farley, Ph.D.

Named by Seed Magazine as one of “15 people who have shaped the global conversation about science in 2005,” Professor Farley is the 2004 recipient of the Harvard Foundation’s Distinguished Scientist of the Year Award. In 2001-2002, he was a Fulbright Distinguished Scholar to the United Kingdom. He obtained his doctorate in mathematics from Oxford University in 1995, and is a professor in the Department of Mathematics and Computer Science at the University of the West Indies, Jamaica.

Thursday, February 22, 2007, 3:00 pm

Student Activities Center Auditorium

